

HMP Northumberland Market Gardens

Garden Furniture

About

Within the perimeter of HMP Northumberland, the market garden has long served as an oasis of growth and renewal. It has six polytunnels, several greenhouses, fields of strawberries and an orchard. Over the years, prisoners have learned valuable skills in horticulture, sustainable farming practices and the propagation of plants. The garden, woodwork shop and garage form a sanctuary, offering a calming environment that promotes the development of essential life skills. However, as there was not an outlet for the produce much of it was not utilised, and the garden furniture was not seen beyond the prison.

In June 2023, The Oswin Project started working with the prison, to develop a market for the plants and produce, and to provide mentoring and employment to those who have worked in the Gardens.

By purchasing this furniture, you are helping to transform the lives of prisoners and prison Leavers, all profits will be used to further The Oswin Projects aims. More information can be found on our website: growingout.co.uk.

The Governor

I strode through the hallways with a purpose, my keys jingling in my pocket, inmates greet me with "Gov'nor" as I walk the wing. The weight of responsibility rested heavily on my shoulders, but at last, I reached my destination and relaxed in this chair in the garden of Block 5. For I am the Governor, and the buck stops here.

Made from recycled softwood, the chair will come unfinished, so will need to be painted or varnished. You can chose on which side you would like the cupholder. Order time: 5 weeks.

The Officer

The morning is cold, the leaves crunching beneath my steel toe boots, the gate alarm chirping while I escort a transfer, "thanks boss, chief, mr" fills the air. I head back to the house block, my head full of comp 1s, adjudications and missing canteen sheets. At last, the quiet and calm of the wing.

Our smaller chair is 'The Officer'. Made from recycled softwood, although pictured painted the chair will come unfinished, so will need to be painted or varnished.

Order time: 5 weeks.
